Beginning to Teach Numbers – Translation

When we teach numbers, we usually start off with the first ten, i.e. one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, and ten.

Once students have got the hang of them, we move on to the next set, which are a bit easier, because most of them have the “-teen” suffix.

The most difficult numbers to spell in this group are usually fifteen, which students often write as “fiveteen”, and nineteen, which students seem to think is spelled “ninteen”. Don’t ask me why!
