Polite, Neutral, or Rude Language 1

Read the situations below and decide which type of language is most likely to be used – polite, neutral, or rude. Compare the different responses and consider why they may or may not be appropriate:

Situation 1 Receiving a certificate from the Dean of your university:

- a) Polite: "Thank you very much."
- b) Neutral: "Thanks. That's great."
- c) Rude: "Thanks for nothing. This place is a dump. I'm so glad I'm leaving. I'll never be coming back!"

Situation 2 Renting a DVD at the video shop:

- a) Polite: "Excuse me, madam. I don't mean to be rude, but I was wondering whether you possibly have The Lego Movie available for home rental?"
- b) Neutral: "Hi. Have you got The Lego Movie?"
- c) Rude: "Where's The Lego Movie?"

Situation 3 At a job interview:

- a) Polite: "I am very interested in the job, because I enjoy working in a customer service environment and meeting new people."
- b) Neutral: "I haven't worked for a while, so I'm just looking for something to keep me going really. I don't mind what."
- c) Rude: "Look – are you going to give me the job or not? Because I'm really busy and I don't want to sit around here all day. And open the window! It's so hot in here."

Situation 4 Somebody in another car drives into the back of your car at the traffic lights:

- a) Polite: "Good morning, sir. Lovely day, isn't it? Would you mind awfully removing your four-wheel-drive from the back of my Corsa?"
- b) Neutral: "Oh dear. Look at the mess. Oh. I don't know what to do. We'll have to swap insurance details."
- c) Rude: "You stupid idiot! What on earth are you doing? I don't believe it! What were you thinking? For goodness' sake – you went right into the back of me!"

Polite, Neutral, or Rude Language 2

Read the situations below and decide which type of language is most likely to be used – polite, neutral, or rude. Compare the different responses and consider why they may or may not be appropriate:

Situation 5 Complaining to your manager about a new work colleague:

- a) Polite: "I just wanted to have a little word with you about one of our more recently employed colleagues, a Mr. Anthony R. Brown. We have found ourselves in something of a disagreement regarding the utilisation of space within our shared working environment."
- b) Neutral: "Can I have a word with you about Anthony? He's started using my desk without asking me first."
- c) Rude: "That new guy has nicked my desk! It's bang out of order! I had a go at him about it yesterday. You're the manager – you're supposed to sort these things out, not just stand there gurning like an imbecile."

Situation 6 Asking for a loan at the bank:

- a) Polite: "We'd like to apply for about ten thousand pounds, if that's possible."
- b) Neutral: "We're going to need about ten grand, I would think."
- c) Rude: "Give us the money or we'll be taking our business somewhere that appreciates us!"

Situation 7 Asking when the next bus is due:

- a) Polite: "I wonder, dear sir, if you could perhaps find your way towards informing me as to whether there is a bus due to be arriving where we are now standing, within a suitably short period of time?"
- b) Neutral: "Excuse me, do you know whether there's a bus due soon?"
- c) Rude: "Can you get out of the way? You're blocking the bus timetable, you fat fool."

Situation 8 Thanking your elderly grandmother for the expensive birthday present that she has sent you:

- a) Polite: "Thank you so much for the earrings. They are absolutely wonderful. It was so kind of you to think of me. You really shouldn't have, grandma!"
- b) Neutral: "Thanks for the earrings. They're nice."
- c) Rude: "Is that all I'm getting this year? You're so mean – and you're getting worse!"

Situation 9 Buying a train ticket:

- a) Polite: "Please would you be so kind as to sell me a ticket which will allow me to make a return journey to the fine city of Newcastle-upon-Tyne today? I shall remain forever in your debt."
- b) Neutral: "I'd like a day return to Newcastle, please. I've got a railcard."
- c) Rude: "Give me a ticket for Newcastle. Return? Of course I want a return. I'm not going to stay there indefinitely, am I? How stupid can you get?"

Situation 10 You are in the pub with your friends, when a stranger accidentally spills your drink:

- a) Polite: "Oh my goodness! I see that there has been an unfortunate mishap. Allow me to help you mop up the spillage."
- b) Neutral: "Oops. Oh dear. Can you get a towel from the bar to help me clear it up? Thanks."
- c) Rude: "You've ruined my trousers! You idiot! Don't just stand there gawping at me – go and get some towels or something from the bar!"

Situation 11 You are in the park, when you see some boys throwing rocks at swans:

- a) Polite: "I really don't think you should be doing that, do you? Now run along, there's good boys."
- b) Neutral: "Er, stop that..."
- c) Rude: "Hey! Stop it! What do you think you're doing? Pack it in! Clear off!"

Situation 12 Asking a friend if they want to go to the cinema:

- a) Polite: "Would it be an enormous inconvenience if you were to attend the cinema with me this evening, at a time which will be arranged so as to be mutually agreeable to the both of us?"
- b) Neutral: "Do you want to go to the cinema later?"
- c) Rude: "Liam is busy so I suppose I've got no choice – I'll have to go to the cinema with you. You're paying. And you can get me some popcorn too. A big tub."

Polite, Neutral, or Rude Language 4

Read the situations below and decide which type of language is most likely to be used – polite, neutral, or rude. Compare the different responses and consider why they may or may not be appropriate:

Situation 13 While out shopping someone with a clipboard stops you and asks you to make a donation to their charity:

- a) Polite: "Thank you so much for this marvellous and unprecedented opportunity to give to your charitable fund, but unfortunately I am rather late for an incredibly important appointment, so I must now hurry along. Please do forgive me for being unable to spend some moments of quality time speaking with you."
- b) Neutral: "Sorry, I can't stop now. I'm in a bit of a rush."
- c) Rude: "Get out of my way. Can't you see I'm busy? You can stop waving your clipboard at me – I haven't got any money! Why don't you get a proper job anyway?"

Situation 14 Asking a friend if they will spend two days of their holiday helping you to move house:

- a) Polite: "Would you mind possibly helping me to move next week? I'm really sorry about the timing because I know that you're supposed to be on holiday but I would really appreciate it, if that's OK."
- b) Neutral: "Will you help me move house next week?"
- c) Rude: "To be honest, you're the last person I would trust to be handling any of my valuable belongings, but I'm completely stuck because absolutely no one else is available. I've tried asking my real friends, and they're all busy next week, so I'm reduced to asking you."

Situation 15 You find out that your partner is having a relationship with someone else:

- a) Polite: "Oh dear, that is rather a shock. Well, I'm sorry that I have evidently been a cause of unhappiness and disappointment to you and hope that you will both be very happy together. Farewell then, darling. I'll see myself out."
- b) Neutral: "Well, how long has it been going on? Yes, I'm a bit stunned. How serious is it?"
- c) Rude: "I knew you were trouble from the moment I set eyes on you! I should never have trusted you in the first place. You can give me back my CDs and all my DVDs! And all the stuff I've bought you – including the diamond engagement ring! Now get out of my house. Get out! OUT!"

“We met some guys in the pub last night, who at first seemed 1._____. One of them, a former sniper called László, began telling us about a bit of 2._____ he’d been having recently. I noticed he was downing 3._____ and I listened to his story more out of 4._____ than anything else.

“He said that he was a Hungarian 5._____ who had been raised by his strict hard-working parents with 6._____. As a 7._____ his father had been a 8._____ working at a 9._____ college. One 10._____ he took László for a long drive in their car, which was a bit of a 11._____, because it didn’t have any indicators. Anyway, as this 12._____ yakked on, I could see his pals were mocking him behind his back. It appeared to be an 13._____ that László’s tales concerning his 14._____ were nothing more than a complete fabrication.

“I tried to 15._____, but to be honest I was 16._____ what to do, since any comments I was able to make were met with a 17._____. It was the 18._____ to me whether László’s words were factual or not, but the 19._____ around him looked on with 20._____ expressions and an air of 21._____. It became clear that László was a bit of a 22._____, without any genuine confidants, and it was a 23._____ that his supposed friends had been nothing more than mere hangers-on.

“This turned out to be an 24._____, because after another half an hour or more of the sniper’s tall tales about his apparently vital role in 25._____, his companions had melted away into the half-darkness one by one, until at last László sat silently before us, 26._____. Sometimes an 27._____ is more rewarding than a lengthy exchange, and I believe that László could feel this too, although he seemed crestfallen, his confidence perhaps 28._____. As we ordered another round of drinks and finally got to know facets of the real László, he calmed down and the strange 29._____ which had dogged me for most of the evening began to disperse. It really had been, in my 30._____, a most unusual night.”

- 32-36 Tenses Revision Game: The aim of this game is to promote better understanding of the features and uses of the five basic tenses in English: Present Simple, Present Continuous, Past Simple, Present Perfect, and Future Simple. Each page has twelve cards with features and uses of one tense. Method: cut up all the cards and mix them up, e.g. in a box. T (teacher) designates an area of the classroom for each of the five tenses – e.g. five different tables. SS (students) work in small groups. Each group gets an equal number of cards. SS have to move around the classroom putting each card in the correct place, e.g. the card with 'regular time' on it would go on the 'Present Simple' table, and so on. T monitors and gives help as required. T can check understanding by getting into short discussions with SS, asking why they have put a particular card with a particular tense – and encouraging them to think again, if it was the wrong choice. T monitors the timing of the activity, which could last between 10-20 minutes, with longer time being allowed for lower-level groups. SS should learn about the five tenses in an active way, being allowed by T to discover the information themselves through group discussion, rather than simply being given it on a handout. SS should end up with all the cards being with the correct tense, and could be given a copy of pp.27 and 29 for reference – or write out the information in a table. T should note which areas SS got wrong, so that they can be addressed in future lessons. A different approach would be to focus on a particular tense with T eliciting from SS the information about time, form, auxiliary verbs, etc. with examples on the board.

- 53 Instructions: you are involved in helping to organise your school variety show. You are at a meeting to discuss who will do each job at the variety show. Use future simple passive to write full sentences stating who is scheduled to do what, e.g.

1. a) SHOW > DIRECT > BEN (MR. BRAHMS) The show will be directed by Ben.

But when the day of the variety show finally arrived, absolutely nothing went to plan! The person in brackets ended up doing the job in question, so write a sentence using past simple (active voice) to show what actually happened:

1. b) Mr. Brahms directed the show.

Then write a sentence using past simple passive that you can put in your after-show report:

1. c) The show was directed by Mr. Brahms.

In summary, you have to write three sentences for each question:

i) passive voice with future simple

Answers to Worksheets and Notes for Use

- ii) active voice with past simple
- iii) passive voice with past simple

Note: each group of three sentences could also be drilled orally.

Extension: students could write similar sets of sentences about a real event that happened at their school.

- 95 Note for pages 95-98: we use polite language in formal situations and with people that we don't know well. We may also use polite language when we need to ask somebody we know for a favour. We don't need to use polite language all the time. If we did we would sound very strange! We use neutral language in everyday informal situations, with family and friends, as well as with people that we know well. We use rude language when we are angry or upset, or if we are feeling stressed. We may use it with family and friends as well as with people we don't know. It may be better to find ways of avoiding the use of rude language, because it does tend to make a bad situation worse, rather than help resolve it – although you may feel better because you have let off steam! Read the situations on the four worksheets and decide which type of language is most likely to be used – polite, neutral, or rude. Compare the different responses and discuss why they may or may not be appropriate.

Answers: Situation 1: a) Polite. Situation 2: b) Neutral. Situation 3: a) Polite. Situation 4: b) Neutral or c) Rude – depending on how you choose to handle the situation!

- 96 Situation 5: b) Neutral. Situation 6: a) Polite. Situation 7: b) Neutral. Situation 8: a) Polite.
