

PURLANDTRAINING.COM

Grammar – Adverbs

Adverbs of Time: Already, Yet, Still, Any More – Exercise 3

Cut out each strip and mix them up on the table. SS choose a random strip and say or write the sentence, then add further information, e.g. time, place, adjectives, a second clause, etc. For example:

I have already had lunch at work. > I have already had a big lunch at work, so I don't fancy fish and chips now.

You could make it more difficult by cutting out all the squares and mixing them up for SS to put together:

1.	already	work	pr / perf	+	have	lunch
2.	try on	-	dress	pr / perf	summer	yet
3.	?	use	towels	pr / con	cupboard	still
4.	pr / sim	-	expensive	any more	newspapers	buy
5.	holiday	pa / perf	+	Marbella	book	already
6.	yet	lawn	pr / perf	mow	?	Graeme
7.	need	still	answer	him	+	pa / sim
8.	-	be able to	swim	lake	any more	fu / sim
9.	fu / perf	?	Friday	already	report	complete
10.	floor	imperative	bathroom	mop	-	yet

Grammar – Adverbs

Adverbs of Time: Already, Yet, Still, Any More – Exercise 3

Answers will vary. Suggested answers:

1. I have already had lunch at work.
2. She hasn't tried on that summer dress yet.
3. Are you still using this cupboard for towels?
4. I don't buy newspapers any more, because they are too expensive.
5. He had already booked the holiday in Marbella.
6. Have you mown the lawn yet, Graeme?
7. I still needed an answer from him.
8. I won't be able to swim in the lake any more.
9. Will you have already completed the report by Friday?
10. Don't mop the bathroom floor yet!