PurlandTraining.com

Grammar - Phrasal Verbs

100 Medical English Phrasal Verbs with Examples – Part 2 (51-100)

Learn 100 English phrasal verbs that are common in the medical professions. Whether you're a doctor, nurse, GP, surgeon, or otherwise involved in treating patients, these are the everyday medical phrasal verbs you need!

Note: sby = somebody, sth = something, yr = your

Phrasal Verb: Definition: Example:

51. lay up have to stay in bed / confine 52. let off fart / break wind / expel gas 53. lie down recline 54. lift up raise / elevate galvanise / excite 55. liven up 56. loaf around idle / do nothing 57. look after protect / mind 58. look at examine 59. look down lower yr head/eyes 60. look for search / hunt check / review 61. look over 62. look round turn yr head 63. look up raise yr head/eyes / research 64. minister to treat / tend 65. nod off fall asleep, especially unintentionally 66. open up make an opening / become more open 67. pack up stop functioning 68. pass away die (euphemism) 69. pass out become unconscious / faint repair temporarily 70. patch up 71. perk up improve condition 72. pick up contract / improve / lift support / help sby to sit up 73. prop up 74. pull through recover (after a bad illness) fake sth, e.g. an illness / wear 75. put on 76. rub down massage / dry 77. run around run in different directions 78. seize up become stiff suddenly / freeze 79. sew up suture, e.g. a wound 80. shake off get rid of, e.g. an infection 81. shut down stop functioning 82. shut up be quiet 83. sit down be seated 84. sit up sit with a straight back 85. slim down reduce weight 86. stand up rise / get to yr feet 87. stress out worry / aggravate 88. strip down to remove some clothing 89. strip off remove clothing become swollen / expand 90. swell up 91. take off remove, e.g. clothing treat / usually be/do 92. tend to vomit 93. throw up 94. turn over change position to the opposite side 95. turn round move to face the opposite way become conscious 96. wake up 97. waste away deteriorate 98. watch over quard / hold a vigil for sby 99. work out exercise / resolve

Ben was laid up in bed for a month after his fall. Who's let off again? Could you just lie down on the couch, please? So, lift up your left leg. Thank you. And the right. We're trying to liven her up, but she won't move. Lily's been loafing around all day at home. The nurse has been looking after us really well. I just need to have a look at your ankle, John. Look down at the floor then look at me. We've been looking for your notes all morning. I just need to look you over from head to toe. Could you look round for me? That's fine. OK. If you look up, we're going to check your sight. Nurse Angela ministered to her charge all night. Sorry, I just nodded off for a few minutes there. We'll make an incision and open up your chest. Sadly his heart packed up and he died. Your uncle passed away at ten o'clock last night. When I got back he was passed out on the bed. They patched up my arm, but I've got to go back. Looks like Tom's perked up a bit today. She picked up TB while travelling in Malawi. We'll prop you up here; can you move the pillow? We're so thankful that you pulled through. It turned out that she had been putting it on! Have a quick shower, then rub yourself down. Dr Neilson has been running around all day. And then my calf muscle suddenly seized up. We clean the wound then sew it up. I'm having a hard time shaking off this virus. His liver shut down on the way to hospital. Just shut up and take your pills! OK, sit down and I'll outline today's procedures. Would you sit up straight, please, Mrs Felton. It is obviously in your best interests to slim down. Rob stood up and left the consulting room. My daughter was stressing out all evening. Please strip down to your underwear. I'm not happy to strip off in front of three doctors. My foot swelled up and became very painful. When they took off the bandage, I nearly cried. The RN was tending to Mrs Peel when I arrived. Joey was throwing up all night. Please turn over and show me where it hurts. Turn round and open your shirt a little. When I woke up, I was lying in a hospital bed! Sadly, no one knew and he simply wasted away. I watched over him all night until he finally woke. Have you considered working out twice a week? Let me wrap the bandage around your arm.

enfold

100. wrap around